With the onset of global climate change, weather patterns historically used by societies to anchor and frame the concept of seasonality are becoming less predictable and reliable. Living within modernity’s capacity and mechanics of control, it is easy to forget the abundant evidence of change outside. The artists’ works included in Weather Amnesia offer visual insight into the profound disruptions that are under way. With strangeness becoming the new normal, the exhibition makes us wonder and think about what kind of future awaits us.

Presented in conjunction with the Jackman Humanities Institute’s 2019-2020 research theme Strange Weather.

Please note: The wheelchair access to the University of Toronto Art Centre location is temporarily closed due to University College Building Revitalization construction. The Justina M. Barnicke Gallery at Hart House is wheelchair accessible.
